That the women are going "to the bottom of things" in politics and are already familiar with the big issues in the fall campaign is shown daily. A class between Mrs. Arthur L. Livermore, chairman of the New York state republican women's committee, and Mrs. George Bass, national democratic chairman for women has already occurred over Article XXIII in the League of Nations covenant. Mrs. Livermore charged the article legalizes international traffic in women. Mrs. Bass produced such testimony as to the fact that the article was designed to halt such traffic.

Quantities of Communist Pamphlets Found in Russian Lure.

Washington, Oct. 8.—President Wilson today directed that on Sunday, November 14, flags be displayed at half mast on all public buildings and naval and military posts as a token of the nation's participation in the memorial services held for the heroic American soldiers, sailors, marines and others who gave their lives to their country in the World war.

Memorial Armistice Day.

In connection with the order, the president authorized the statement: "There has been transmitted to me a suggestion that I name Sunday, November 14, as Armistice Sunday in order that the religious services held throughout the country on that day may be given an especial note of remembrance for the heroic services and sacrifices of those who died for America in the World war.

"The selection of a formal day which shall annually be set aside to commemorate our participation in the World war will some day doubtless be effected through legislation and already memorial day, rich in heroic memories, has acquired additional significance as being appropriate also to the commemoration of the heroes of the World war. I am so heartily in favor of the suggestion that has been made that I take this occasion to express publicly my approval of the idea.

Nov. 11 Always Memorable.

"November 11, 1918, will always be memorable as the beginning of the end of the most terrible and destructive of all wars. Our beloved country took a noble part, suffering the arrival of the day hailed by the whole world as the dawn of peace; but close upon the day of victory followed the signing of the armistice which brought to an end the terrible struggle in which the lives of millions of our countrymen were sacrificed. It is fitting that the anniversary of this day should be marked by the people of this country with the same reverence and devotion which they have shown for the heroes of the World war. I am so heartily in favor of the suggestion that has been made that I take this occasion to express publicly my approval of the idea.

THE REPUBLICAN PLATFORM
The political "spellbinder" has one purpose in view—the placing of his party in power. He would have us believe that to allow the opposing party to rule means national ruin, to allow his own party to direct affairs assures national prosperity. Since the statement is untrue, the arguments leading to such a conclusion, of necessity, must be confusing. After listening to the speakers of opposing parties we appreciate the position of the negro judge who, after listening to the attorney for the plaintiff, refused to allow the attorney for the defense to speak "because it would confuse de mind ob de judge."

The party whip now has no stigma, and as a consequence the independent voter has become an important factor in politics. It has been discovered that there is good in all parties, and having the highest interest of his country at heart, the writer is ready to support that party which will most successfully advance the common good.

Never has there been a time when the voter sought the truth regarding political issues more diligently than now. He no longer wants his political principles prepared for him by some petty politician. He is able to do his own thinking and if he can but get the facts he is ready to draw his own conclusions.

It is the purpose of this article to set forth as fairly as possible the position of the republican party as stated in its national platform. A study of the platforms of the leading parties impresses one with the fact that much is said which has no bearing upon issues. The republicans, as is to be expected, severely criticize the president and his policies. Such is a part of any political campaign.

The issue of nations is a paramount issue in this campaign. The republican platform roundly condemns the league, believing it to be opposed to the highest interests of the United States. It declares that all foreign agreements must conform with American ideals and with the policies of Washington and Monroe. It favors some form of international court to settle disputes between nations. It approves a foreign policy characterized by a firm adherence to our own rights, and at the same time it favors a just regard for the rights of other nations. We must safeguard the interests of the United States and other nations may guard their own, is the basic principle emphasized.

Capital rights are promised protection and encouragement. It advocates amendments to existing laws that will give business men a means of determining in advance whether proposed combinations would be illegal or not. The federal trade commission, which investigates business organizations and their activities and reports their findings, should be so organized and directed as to "offer protection to the public and legitimate business interests." The implication is that under democratic rule it does not do so. Tariff revision is promised as soon as conditions will permit. This doubtless would be in the direction of higher duties. Banks are urged to give credit preferences to "essential industries." The spirit manifested throughout the platform is quite sympathetic to business.

Labor receives recognition. The value of collective bargaining is admitted, but the government is urged to reduce the freedom and limit the consequences of strikes, since they inflict loss upon a community. The platform declares that "there should be no organized interruption of service necessary to the life and health and welfare of the people," although the right of individual workers in public utilities to quit work is conceded. The right to strike against the government is denied. Child labor laws are favored, equal pay for equal work of women in industry is advised, and the application of the workmen's compensation act to the merchant marine is recommended.

Transportation facilities are given no little attention. Government ownership of railroads is opposed and assurance of a fair return on capital invested in railroads is favored. Belief is expressed that most efficient service can be provided through "private ownership and operation under proper regulation and control." The Esch-Cummings railroad law is declared to be a great constructive legislative achievement. Liberal appropriations by the federal government in co-operation with the states for the building of good roads is advocated. Encouragement of waterway transportation is pledged, and a declaration is made favoring a privately owned and operated merchant marine.

Aggravation should be encouraged, and to do this the suggestion is made that farmers should have the right without interference to form co-operative associations to market their products, and the co-ordination of rail, water and motor transportation should be encouraged to cheapen the cost of marketing. Various groups of individuals are considered. Asiatics should be "practically excluded;" selective tests for immigrants should be made, and the number should be limited to our ability to assimilate them. All aliens should be registered, and the right to agitate against the government should be denied them on penalty of deportation in case they become a "real menace." No alien should be naturalized until "genuinely Americanized." Demand is made that every citizen be guaranteed free speech, press and assembly. Woman suffrage is endorsed.

Less important questions are also matters of comment. The character of taxes should be changed, living costs should be reduced, lynching should be lessened and the party records "be sympathetically with all oppressed people."

Such are the essential issues of the campaign as seen by the republicans. Study them and decide whether they are important and if so whether the position of the party on them merits your support. The platform plans to appeal to many classes and will doubtless win many votes.

The Volstead Act.—W. J. asks: Is it possible that congress will amend the Volstead act and place no limit to the percentage of alcohol?

A.—The supreme court has decided that it is within the power of congress to define intoxicant. But this power can be exercised only within reasonable limits. Beyond a certain percentage of alcohol "our becomes unquestionably an intoxicant and doubtless the court would so decide." It seems probable congress will be cautious.

VIRTUE ITS OWN REWARD
Governor Lynn J. Frazier was talking at a Fargo dinner about a candidacy that had failed.
"It was a candidacy that deserved success, too," he said. "But there—virtue, as usual, was its own reward."
"Virtue too often is its own reward. I know a Fargo man who got hard up recently. Yes, he got so hard up that one morning he said to his wife in despair:
"I haven't so much as a quarter to give you for the day's marketing. I don't see what's ahead of us but surely some of the stores where we've dealt so many years will consent to trust us."
"No my love," he answered sadly. "I have no credit anywhere. I have always paid cash."

NEW CITY SPRINGS UP IN RUINS OF LOUVAIN
Louvain, Belgium—From the ruins of Louvain, to which the Germans applied the torch on Aug. 25, 1914, are springing up dozens of modern buildings. They lack the historic interest of the destroyed structures, but no city in Belgium will be able to boast of a more up-to-date appearance than Louvain when the work of reconstruction is finished.
The city presents to the stranger an unusual appearance—masses of ruins here, new five story buildings there, with the old undestroyed buildings in sharp contrast.
No efforts have yet been made to rebuild the famous library. The Belgian government, however, is gradually finding in Germany traces of many of the priceless manuscripts and other books looted from the library by the Germans.

PORTO RICAN SUGARS NOT FORCED ON SALE
San Juan, P. R.—No Porto Rican sugars are being forced on the market. Whatever sugars there are here are being held—for better or worse. (This is evidently being done to prevent refiners from reducing the price of raw sugar, as the Cuban growers have asked the Porto Rican producers to join them in an attempt to prevent a cut in prices.)
For the first time in many years, two weeks have gone by without the shipment of any sugar from the island. Approximately 640,000 bags, or 50,000 tons, remain in the island for export.
Porto Rico produced in this year's crop 455,887 short tons of sugar, according to a final statistical report recently issued by J. Ruiz Soler, secretary of the Porto Rico Sugar Producers' association. This is 7,000 tons in excess of his estimate made at the commencement of the grinding season and about 50,000 tons greater than the production during three crop seasons of 1913-14. It is also 20,000 tons in excess of the production during 1917-18.

Export figures show 367,000 tons of sugar shipped from this crop. Local consumption is estimated at 35,000 tons.
Ashland.—Soft coal receipts at the port of Ashland will be short about 150,000 tons at the close of the season, or one full month short, the deficiency representing about one month's receipts. The normal season's receipts are about 700,000 tons, and the receipts up to the beginning of October are 335,000 tons. Last year was far short of being a normal year, the shortage being largely due to strikes, and as a consequence, the coal docks were bare this spring. The same condition existed at the Twin Ports of Duluth and Superior, where the receipts are but 48 per cent of the normal. The shortage on the docks at the opening of the season, together with the shortage all season means that the railroads will have to be depended on next winter to furnish

150 GUERNSEYS IN SALE NEXT WEEK

Breeders to Hold First Auction at Fair Grounds Here—Plan Banquet.

One hundred and fifty head of pure bred and grade Guernsey cattle will be sold at the fair grounds here next week at the first public auction of the newly organized Southern Wisconsin Guernsey Breeders' association of which Dr. Wayne A. Munn, this city, is president. The sale dates are Thursday and Friday, October 14-15, the two days following the state Guernsey sale at Madison, completing a circuit of these events held coincident with the National Dairy show at Chicago.

Banquet Thursday Night. On Thursday evening, the first day of the sale, a Guernsey banquet and meeting will be held at 8 P. M. at the Y. M. C. A. here with several of the best known breeders in the country as speakers. Their message is guaranteed to be of interest to every person interested in better livestock of any kind. The banquet is open to anyone interested in stock raising.

"Although the sale is the first we have attempted, its success is assured from the fact that these breeders have been known for years as conservative breeders of the best type," explained Dr. Munn. Many of them secured their foundation stock from W. D. Hoard, former governor, and followed his footsteps closely in building up their herds.

Pure Breeds First Day. The first day of the sale, about 70 pure breeds of all ages will be devoted to the disposal of grade cows and heifers.

Ralph Pratt, Whitewater, is Vice-president and James H. Murphy, Delavan, is secretary and treasurer. The committee in charge of the sale is made up of three officers: and Paul Bureland, and H. A. Main, Port Adams; Otto Ostergaard, Cambridge; A. S. Knudsen, Brookfield; Grover Kall, Genoa Junction; and T. Ridge, Whitewater.

Cattle can be secured from James H. Murphy, Delavan.

Ashtand—The low prices for potatoes during the greatest harvest in the history of Ashtand county, is causing the farmers to leave the crop in the ground. At 10 cents a bushel the sacrifice of paying labor for digging would be too great. Farmers of this bridge especially, with large potato crops and enormous yields of potatoes, are being hard hit by present prices.

AIRPLANES RUSH FIRE FIGHTERS TO FORESTS

Washington—Airplane forest patrols in California were able recently to reach the scene of a fire 45 hours sooner than had they proceeded by train and pack mule, a report to the army air service shows. An aerial observer spotted its blaze in Lassen forest while all foresters were engaged in fighting another fire in the adjacent forest. Planes picked up the fire-fighters in the Merced forest zone and rushed them to the Lassen fire.

"In three hours," says the report, "the fire-fighting personnel was on the job fighting the flames, whereas had they proceeded by train and pack mule, 48 hours would have been consumed."

"The day will come when men and equipment will be carried by airships to the scene of fire, both men and equipment dropped by parachute, while the airship will rain down fire extinguishing chemicals from above."

FITS THE CIRCUMSTANCES. "Why, this is a funny telephone; but I think it is."

"Yes; that's a complete telephone. But there is nothing to it but the receiver. Where is the mouthpiece?"

"Doesn't need one. That is the instrument, over which I converse with my wife."—Pack.

CHANDLER SIX $1895

Chandler is Back to $1895

Chandler's reduction to $1895 is the news on the street today. And it's good news to the car-using public, because it means that Chandler has taken another big stride forward in the leadership of its field.

The Greatest Dollar-for-Dollar Value Throughout the Industry

The Chandler has always been closely priced and today, at $1895, it is decidedly the greatest value in the whole automobile industry.

The Leader of All Sixes; Most Closely Priced

It has always been the basic policy of the Chandler Company to build a really fine automobile and to price it closely. The great Chandler plant, the millions of capital employed in Chandler production are back of that statement. They exist because of that policy. Chandler is the greatest of sixes and the most fairly priced.

Constantly Refined and Improved But Never Radically Changed

Other cars of many kinds and many motors have come and gone while the Chandler Six, now in its eighth year, lives and grows, and every season multiplies its thousands of friends. There is only one Chandler Six, refined and improved throughout the years but never radically changed. There is no other car like it. You will find the exclusive Chandler motor under the hood of no other car. No other car, within hundreds of dollars of the Chandler price, has the features characteristic of the highest type of design and construction for which the Chandler Six is justly famous.

Six Handsome Chandler Body Types On One Standard Chassis
